PREFACE

Surname	Christian Name(s)	Number of persons with same surname in a household	Enumeration Area Page Number	Enumeration Area Household Number
Smith	John	4	26	131

Further the 1881 Census did not include relationship data for each person i.e. mother, father, son, boarder, etc. Each entry had to be treated not as a family but strictly as a household. Most households enumerated had only one surname in them and the first person of that household is mentioned in this index. Where there were two or more different surnames within a household, the first person recorded having a different surname was indexed .

Every person mentioned in the above Census areas has been indexed as best as possible regardless of origin of surname! This index has included native Indians. The basic name structure highlighted in this book has been the traditional European method where the surname is alphabetically indexed first, followed by christian name(s). However special consideration had to be given to those individuals having :

- a. no surname but having a christian name
- b. a surname but no christian name
- c. a single name not known to be either surname or christian name.

In the cases of either item a or b above, the missing name was replaced by a set of dashes or hyphens. Where item c occurred, especially amongst native Indians, each of these single named persons were indexed by their name being placed as a surname, and the christian name space was filled with a set of dashes or hyphens.

Please note that the maps contained in Appendix A were drawn by the author from the scarce information contained in the Census, other maps of the time, and historical information. These maps give good locational information but are not exact. It seems a generalized view of the routes of the enumerators were from one nodal point to another point along rivers or well known roads and little venturing into the vast open areas of Canada's West.

Lorne W. Main
Vancouver, B.C.

Footnotes:

1. NWT Enumeration area 192-L & M(1) were omitted. These areas were only one page long showing numerical totals of native Indians by sex, adulthood.
